

GLOBAL OBJECTIVES FOR GRADUATE EDUCATION UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN—WHITEWATER

Upon completion of a graduate degree from the University of Wisconsin—Whitewater, a master's level student will be able to:

- describe the paradigmatic theories/philosophical approaches that apply to the professional practices of the discipline.
- synthesize and evaluate information from primary-source literature of the discipline.
- utilize technology in performing the professional practices of the discipline.
- collect and use primary or secondary source data to support basic or applied research initiatives.
- articulate complex concepts in a clear, concise and persuasive manner through written and oral discourse.